OUR CHICAGO LETTER.

From our Special Correspondent. CHICAGO, April 10, 1869.

In proportion as this city extends its our Police and Fire Departments will grow and expand. We have just been favored with the annual reports of the Chiefs of these organizations, and I propose to convey some idea of their labors during the past year, to your readers. Our Fire Department has arrived at the state of efficiency mot surpassed in any other city. The force now consists of 176 men, furnished with the most complete equipments for extinguishing fires. The Dept. now has fourteen first class steam fire engines, besides hose, carts, hooks The following interesting statistics are over 300 fire alarm telegraph boxes which are invaluable in giving the darms. During the past year there have been 405 fires, involving a loss of over half a million dollars. The expenses of the Dept. for the past year were $302,798.

Our Police Department is equally necessary, but the report is one of hose which usually sends a pang to the heart of the philanthropist. The force now consists of a Superintendent and Deputy, three Captains, twenty-one Sergants, and 275 Patrolmen. It is recommended to add six Sergeants and seventy-five Patrolmen. The Supt. also desires a supply of muskets to be used in case of any extremity. The expenses of the Dept. the arrests numbered 22,049. These persons were of all ages and nationalbut it is a genericable fact that the Irish number 11,825, or over half the whole. The supervision and bontrol of these two organizations is vested in three gentlemen, who form the Board of Commissioners.

Your readers will be able to gather from the above some idea of the expense necessary to make a large city habitable. There are many advantares and privileges, but like all such things, they are accompanied by their
